

AMERICA'S ENERGY FUTURE
Houston's Presidential Summit<sup>SM</sup>

Thursday, February 28, 2008

George R. Brown Convention Center
1001 Avenida de las Americas

The Greater Houston Partnership, representing business interests in the energy capital of the world, will host a high-level symposium and exhibition focusing on the many available and emerging energy sources and technologies and how each can contribute to our energy future. The symposium will include senior-level business executives, relevant experts, and public policy leaders and elected officials.

Additionally, top presidential candidates of both major political parties will discuss energy policy platforms before an international audience. The debate will be moderated by TV journalist and commentator Tim Russert and will be broadcasted live on MSNBC.
